	AGM
2	Emma Hutchins, Chair, VAI • Apologies received from VAI Trustees Ali Jabeen, Kevin Turner, Kiran Prasad, Ken Penton, Maddie Gascoigne, Santa Gascoigne, Jorge Llorens (Treasurer) • Welcomed newly co-opted Trustees: Cllr Anjna Khurana, Daniel Belay Gessesse, Ken Penton, and Kiran Prasad, and their appointments were duly confirmed. • Huge thanks to two trustees that stepped down during the year, Kevin Turner in Feb 2026, and Madeleine Gascoigne in March 2026. • Emma is stepping down at Chair at this AGM, and she reflected on the last 6 years as a Trustee, with the last 2 years as Chair. "The last 6 years have been eventful, with Covid devastating our communities and changing lives forever. We then felt the full force of the start of a cost-of-living-crisis – or a crisis of poverty, as this is the reality. We then had local elections, general elections, and a marked increase in hatefulness toward some of the most vulnerable in our society. VAI has been on the frontline responding to all these challenges. Whether it was mobilising the response to Covid-19 or the work to support food aid more recently. VAI has been a constant in a time of instability". She went on to say that "the proudest of achievements or most sad to leave behind is the people of Islington – the staff, the community groups, the partners, the 219,000 volunteers, the 9000 trustees, including 12 of our own. The passion, compassion, the dedication and the motivation that everyone here has shown is what makes this sector so vibrant, so thank you to all of you. That is why this is such a special occasion. It is a rare chance to celebrate one another not just for what we achieve, but for who we are as a community".

Minutes of AGM – 6th November 2024

Craig Burgess, Trustee, VAI

Craig presented the following case study to demonstrate the impact of supportive volunteering through VAI's Volunteer Centre

AW is a young resident in the Islington community with a keen interest in IT and a deep desire to use his skills to support older generations. Despite facing multiple and significant barriers, including Dyslexia, ADHD, hearing difficulties, and depression, AW has consistently demonstrated resilience and a commitment to making a difference.

AW's education and personal development were significantly affected by gaps in support. Frequent school changes, misdiagnoses, behavioural misunderstandings, and periods of exclusion left him feeling isolated and emotionally distressed. He struggled to access an ADHD assessment and mental health services and faced additional barriers navigating healthcare systems that relied on online-only processes. With no tailored, face to face support or opportunity for personal development, AW often felt frustrated and was frequently labelled as disruptive and misunderstood, which further undermined his confidence and sense of self-worth.

Transformational Support
With support from Islington's Volunteer Centre, AW was matched with a volunteer role on the '21st Century IT Programme' at the Elizabeth House Community Centre. Over four weeks, AW:

- Volunteered and trained alongside IT professionals.
- Shadowed technical staff at the Community Centre.
- Assisted older residents with digital issues during tech workshops across community hubs.

He described the experience as a 'life changing': "Thank you, Primrose, for putting me in touch with this great opportunity. I am always learning something new and happy to support people. The staff have been very supportive, and I will be starting the 2 weeks boot camp next week."

Impact
The programme helped AW reconnect, both with himself and his community. "When helping the elders, I think of how I can help myself to help others."

Through consistent volunteering and mentoring, he developed confidence, structure, and a sense of purpose. He shared "Before, I was not going out and just did online training. I feel less depressed now, volunteering kept me busy. Now I am meeting new people, helping and giving to the community. My confidence level has grown."

The programme has brought a range of positive outcomes for AW. He experienced improved mental health and wellbeing through connection with his community and gained confidence and a stronger sense of self-worth through volunteering.

The support he received provided a clear progression pathway from volunteering to employment in IT, while a referral to Healthwatch Islington helped him access health services, including intervention with his GP regarding a stalled ADHD assessment. In addition, specialist employment support from partner organisations such as the 'Suited and Booted Centre' who helped address his individual needs including preparing him for the workplace.

With ongoing coaching and encouragement from VAI, AW recently secured a Technical Specialist position with Warner Brothers, achieving his goal of working in IT and we couldn't be more pleased for him. This marks a full-circle journey - from a young man who once struggled with isolation and uncertainty to a confident, motivated professional making a positive contribution to his community.

This case study highlights the importance of personalised, trauma-informed support, with holistic programmes that combine skills training with community engagement, and cross-sector collaboration to remove systemic barriers.

Through this approach, VAI's specialised support at the start, followed by specialised partner support has played a key role in changing the trajectory of AW's life.

Daniel Belay Bessesse, VAI Trustee

Trustees Week Q&A

Emma introduced Daniel and asked him about his journey from volunteering in VAI's Volunteer Centre to becoming a new VAI trustee.

Daniel spoke about how he as a young asylum seeker wanted to explore volunteering opportunities and attended a volunteering information session to find ways to spend time doing something meaningful. He was presented with multiple volunteering opportunities, and he joined VAI as a volunteer Information and Communications Officer. As part of this role, he helped interpret between English and Tigrinya and English to Amharic at volunteer information sessions. He described how he developed both hard and soft skills including experiencing office culture and learning "business English". He learned about the various voluntary and community sector organisations in Islington and the amazing work they do. He described how he went on to get a job as a Junior System Support technician at a nonprofit Managed Service Provider (MSP) that provides IT services for charities and community groups.

Daniel introduced Trustee Week, an annual event dedicated to recognising the contributions of nearly one million charity trustees in the UK. It aims to celebrate their commitment and encourage more individuals to consider becoming trustees. The theme for 2025 is "celebrating, inspiring and supporting".

Daniel finished off by offering advice and encouragement to other young people and the impact of volunteering on developing new skills, confidence and experience.
