Methods of inducting a volunteers into your organisation

There are various types of induction methods, here are some to try. You might find that some are more suitable to your organisation than others.

- Group induction sessions
- Power point presentation about the organisation
- Talking and showing volunteers around the organisation
- Shadowing people within the organisation
- Video recording about the organisation
- Telephone or digital communications (for volunteers working from home)
- Buddying or peer mentoring
- Training sessions
- Reading through the volunteer's handbook
